In order to get you caught up on the things you might have missed while you have been preparing to watch Major League Baseball's wildest April, we have compiled our play-by-play recap from this past week. Enjoy, and leave any comments, complaints, or suggestions below. We've covered all 10 of the Braves' games in the first half of the season on our Braves Beat blog, so this week, we're looking at the second half of the season. Today's game in Miami (4:40 p.m., FS1) is the Braves' third in the second half, and it's also the first game of a four-game series against Miami. Let's take a look at how the Braves are playing. Today is the All-Star Game, and it's also the second game of the National League Championship Series (7:00 ET, ESPN). In order to get you caught up on the things you might have missed while you've been preparing to watch baseball's 2016 Midsummer Classic, we've compiled our play-by-play recap from this past week. Enjoy, and leave any comments, complaints, or suggestions below. Sometimes, baseball makes for so much fun that it is hard to remember that these players were once human beings. Take Josh Donaldson, for example. He is currently the AL MVP leader in batting average (men and women), runs scored, total bases, slugging percentage, and OPS. He has the best slugging percentage in baseball, and he is second in batting average, runs scored, and total bases. Other players have not been so lucky with injuries. Jose Altuve, Houston Astros, was expected to return after a leg injury suffered in April 2016. Instead, the Astros went out and traded for Jake Marisnick. Marisnick, the Braves' second baseman
