

Hey guys today I'm looking at this brand new Five Nights at Freddy's V3 map! I'll be able to give you a good example for GTA V considering I watched the prequel and was disappointed with how it ended. The most basic reason I made this video, and that was the reason I chose Five Nights at Freddy's V3... was because we had more time to do it; we could make the game faster, and make it really better. I was amazed at how difficult it was to change Freddy's design. My guess is that Freddie was hit by a car when he got back from a walk, and I think LA thought of using sunglasses that you could get from a store that sells car accessories. I don't know if this was in the game, but it definitely sounds new. Let's take a quick look at how things have changed (...). Each scene again goes through the repeated scenes in the previous expansion. For example, as we saw in Scene 5: The New Limit, Skullgirls is in the house when Freddie comes to visit her, and Aiffy (Double D) goes to the trunk of the car before she returns to the house. Before opening the door, she uses the phone with the same key she had when she first entered and opens the trunk. She then lies down in the trunk and Freddie appears in front of her face. The same thing happens again as her car drives back to the school house and then back to the garage. Wherever Freddie appears in the cutscene, he uses the same key he unlocked the moment he opened the door. And in general, it looks exactly as if he was inside. Moreover, you will see the Skull Gunns appear in the room, but there is no Freddy in the frame. Except for one short moment that shows what he does. That's what I liked the most about GTA: San Andreas, it's how often many games make you feel like they are similar to others. No matter how well you've done the intros, the graphics in most cases assume that you know the game will look the same when you open the door. However, this is not important in the GTS. Here you can see how Emanuel [Zavos] drew this scene and added all the details when
