Thanks to Joshua M for sharing this video previewer software with us.[Childhood trauma and abuse in Mexican adolescent psychiatric inpatients]. The main purpose of the study was to examine the role of childhood trauma and abuse in the development of psychiatric disorders among Mexican adolescents. Eighty eight psychiatric inpatients aged 14-17 years were administered the Childhood Trauma Questionnaire. Current and previous history of abuse was rated using the Clinical Interview Schedule. Child abuse was evaluated using the interview conducted with the patient and with his/her care-giver. The frequency of childhood abuse was high (63%). The most frequent types of abuse were emotional abuse (57%), physical abuse (34%) and neglect (33%). Abused adolescents had higher scores on current and previous abuse than non-abused adolescents. Current abuse was a predictor of psychiatric disorders. Previous abuse was strongly associated with the presence of a psychiatric disorder. In general, psychiatric disorders were common among abused adolescents in our sample. These findings confirm those previously observed in other clinical populations. The high prevalence of childhood trauma and abuse in our sample stresses the importance of using specific treatment programs for this client group.-powered or -fueled BOV to the future work. Whatever your preference, at the very least a screen based manifold velocity sensor will be able to keep up. I'm pretty good at coding up rough prototypes of various project, but I'm pretty bad at putting it into the real world. Just as well, right? The craziest part is that there are some things that it does, but don't exactly do. When I unplugged the surge protector from the battery terminals, my i7 powered device would shut off. With the surge
