There are no registrations, you get a password right after you join and you get an email with your password if you don't have one yet. You can move around to all the rooms on yippy.com and if you want to search and or join them you can do so as well. You can leave and join chat rooms even if you are in another chat room of yippy. You can see who is online and who has you in their yippy friends so you can talk to them in chat and/or see their avatars on your screen. You can have multiple friends who can see your yippy friends and you can chat and/or see your avatars of the online friends and all of them together and you can still talk to everyone in your friend group. You can chat with other users while in a room or you can chat with only some users in a room and not everyone else. You can add people to your friend list. The rooms you can chat with are ones that are invited to you as a friend. Statins and cardiovascular disease: no definitive evidence of benefit. Prospective controlled trials have shown that although the incidence of myocardial infarction, stroke and transient ischaemic attack is reduced by statin treatment, the clinical outcomes of patients with these cardiovascular conditions are not significantly altered by these drugs. Several clinical trials have examined the use of statins in patients with coronary artery disease who have acute myocardial infarction (MI), but to date, none has demonstrated a reduction in death or reinfarction. A small number of 'secondary analyses' of these trials have suggested that statins reduce the occurrence of recurrent MI (mostly nonfatal) and mortality 6a5afdab4c
