The player's first task is to select the attribute points to distribute to the 4 elements (Physical, Magic, Intelligence, and Wisdom). Also, the character is given a class, which serves as a battle strategy, and the player can add and remove elements to create a desired class. The first action of the game is to select the class of the character. The various characters are divided into the following 4 categories: • Physical Character • Magic Character • Intelligence Character • Wisdom Character

When selecting the class, the player's role is set to each of the 4 classes. The optimal class is determined by the distribution of the 4 elements. If the player wants the elements to be overwhelmingly distributed to physical or magic, the Physical class is the best choice. Physical Character A Physical Character cannot use magic. Attributes: Strength - The player's "muscle power" is increased by repeatedly performing physical attacks. Agility - When the player attacks and uses a weapon while quickly jumping over a barrier, it increases "attack power" by 5%. Vigor - The player's physical endurance is increased by performing many physical attacks. Endurance - The player can be affected by a longer time of enemy attacks in a battle. Luck - The enemy's attacks miss and can attack you in error. Magic Character A Magic Character cannot use physical attacks. Attributes: Arcane - The player's power of magic is increased by creating and modifying magic with knowledge of the Arcane element. Technique - The player can create and use magic attacks. Creativity - The player can create and use magic with the "elemental thought" power of all 4 elements. Energy - The enemy can't move to the player's "magic power" side. Luck - The player attacks the enemy while taking advantage of the "unexpected situation". Intelligence Character An Intelligence Character is capable of attacking enemy attacks while using physical attacks. Attributes: Wits - The player's intelligence is increased by creating and modifying magic with knowledge of the Intelligence element. Focus - The player can select an area and attack to attack the enemy there. Knowledge - The player can create and use magic. Memory - The player can use the "elemental power" of all 4 elements. Luck - The enemy can't move to the player's "magic power"
