This has been one of the most anticipated steps in sports game development, as it promises to enable a more authentic and realistic football experience, and we're pleased to be able to share some of the results from our game play tests, and some early impressions of the technology. FIFA 22 brings the most complete football experience in the franchise's history, starting with the ALL-NEW Create-A-Player system. This year, the player creation process is enhanced by use of the new Player Mastery feature, which analyzes the skill level of every current player, and stores it for future customisation. Players can improve their attributes based on their performance and tactics and use the Skill Transfer system to master and enhance their abilities. As a result of these new features, there are now over 50 Career Modes to take on, including: - Resurgence, a revamped League Format; now introducing the Resurgence Ultimate Seasons including three year tournaments leading up to the ultimate prize of the FIFA Club World Cup. - Ranked Seasons, introducing the new Peak and Events Leagues, each with three stages, and Rewards Leagues that award extra FIFA Points and special items. - Seasons, where players can compete in a league with their friends in an online hosted league, or Face Off with the AI. - Seasons, where players can create Leagues for their friends and colleagues on Xbox Live. -

Career, where players can improve their attributes with their own personalised experience. - Draft Champions, where players can choose a player from their own team to add to the Ultimate Team. - Reserves, the new, junior mode that presents a series of mini-games including a touch-based shooting game, a football puzzle game and a 90's Throwback game. There are now over 140 unique leagues with a total of 2,300 unique players available to create a team. There are now over 150 unique stadiums with their own AI stadium tactics, more than 300 unique players and a total of more than 1,800 possible players and kits to create a team. FIFA 22 introduces the new Remotivated System, which gives teams the opportunity to earn additional points over the course of a match. Attacking Improvements As well as the introduction of in-game player motion capture, a new attacking gameplay system that includes optional passing animations and ball physics have also been added. The new attack system has been developed by EA SimSport, who

FIFA is the FIFA franchise that has captivated fans around the globe since its debut on the original PlayStation over 20 years ago. The series has now sold 100 million units worldwide and continues to deliver compelling and authentic gameplay with the endless popularity enjoyed by fans of the series. Since its launch on PS2, the series has evolved to the PS3, PS4, Xbox 360, Xbox One, Nintendo Switch, and PC. Thousands of players have become legends in the series as players such as Ronaldo, Pele and Maradona have managed to capture the hearts and minds of fans around the globe. FIFA's national teams remain one of the most popular game modes and players of all generations are increasingly turning to FIFA to test their skills in domestic leagues, international competitions and club competitions. What's New in FIFA 22? EA SPORTS FIFA 22 brings a ton of new features to the game including Dynamic Player Attributes, Player Impact Engine, the Largest Main Squad in FIFA History, Live Player Animation, New Commentary,

New Broadcast Engines, New Game Modes and more. Dynamic Player Attributes FIFA 22 continues the use of physics-based player-character models for both sprinting and stopping in the game. The result is a more realistic game experience where players will respond with different body shapes, sizes, weights and run tendencies. Players will react to impacts differently in FIFA 22 and they'll also display their running stats in crucial areas such as in the box or up the pitch. As such, defenders will sprint differently after a challenge, showing their confidence levels. Players will adapt to tackles, recover from a tumble and then sprint off in different directions when they're being beaten by a ball striker, and this dynamic functionality is applied at every moment during gameplay. With the PS4 version of the game already featuring the Dynamic Player Attributes, this will now be available to players on PS3, Xbox 360, Wii U and PC. Player Impact Engine FIFA 22 will now feature a brand-new, more detailed and nuanced AI system. This gives a new set of challenges for the game to offer more AI variety than ever before and that will put a more diverse set of moves on players. In FIFA 22, players will now be able to tackle less aggressively and run away from challenges and that will make them react more realistically during
