New Segment Analysis

The information contained on this page is provided in two versions. The first one is the regular which shows just the basic statistics of the player. The second one is the complete version which contain more detailed statistics. The bigger size of the statistics in the player card is caused by the graphics which are different in the game.

Screenshots of PlayStation 3 and Xbox 360 Versions - Unranked player lists (scoreboards) are not displayed on the consoles.

New Segment Analysis: - New segment analysis, which allows fans to visualize overall performances of players through a comprehensive summation of segment records, over time as well as across teams. You can now view, analyse and interpret the combined performance of a player in a segment and compare it to the performance of other players or teams in the same or different segments. Social interaction has also been improved, so fans can
