Vanguard is a game in which you must help the love between scientists and technology. It is a simulation game in which you will have to learn how to improvise your own compass, keep the supplies to its minimum and create equipment that will be useful for your survival. Quote: DESCRIPTION: You must solve a series of puzzles to complete the development and expansion of your base. Do not fail to pay attention to the health of your crew and the supplies you need, because after a certain point you will have to return to your base in the middle of the night to keep the supplies and return with the extras that you need. DEVELOPMENT: 1. Construction of the base (let's do it together in the comments) 2. Design and build a working compass (let's do it together in the comments) 3. Game development 4. Add special features Thank you so much for taking a moment of your day to read this and I appreciate your support. # # # This new ad campaign is aimed to inform people about our first game, Vanguard, which was released more than two years ago, but finally we could build a base and we are publishing it here for you all to have a look. Vanguard is a puzzle game. You control a base crew who must improvise your own compass and other equipment in order to survive. If this was not possible, the crew would die. The game will consist of 10 puzzle levels. On the first level you will need to build some of the equipment that the crew will need. The game will introduce a story. # # # Due to the numerous requests by all our users, we have decided to share Vanguard in this way. # # # Hi there! We are spanish devs, working on a new game Vanguard and we would like to share it with you all. Vanguard is a game in which you must help the love between scientists and technology. It is a simulation game in which you will have to learn how to improvise your own compass, keep the supplies to its minimum and create equipment that will be useful for your survival. Hi there! We
