A South Wales potter who made almost two dozen items inspired by the Syrian war refugee crisis is continuing to create pieces after receiving a Brexit support donation. Carmel Elery, from Bangor, was speaking at the start of a refugee week at the city's Heritage Centre. The Ospreys rugby club has given all the craftsmen working on its Christmas exhibition a two-week paid boost, and members of the team, who performed in Cardiff on Tuesday night, were also collected from the city and brought to Wales by car last Thursday. The team are working on their display, which includes a range of Christmas gifts. Ms Elery, who has been working in ceramics for 25 years, said: “I’ve been creating things for the Syria Campaign and to raise awareness of the refugee crisis since January this year. “I was asked to create pottery for them, and I got involved with the Refugee Welcome to Wales group. “They have offered to help out with the Christmas display, which I’m really looking forward to.” The support from the rugby team has raised several hundred pounds for the project, Ms Elery added. The centre’s director, Raul Sanchez, said: “We are really
