Now, it's time for the guys at Play.gg to give you guys their two cents on all the great features we added to the game. Gameplay ----- The gameplay is a lot more refined than it was before and we feel like we've achieved a lot in that regard. For example, the mechanics are now more of a beatmapping process than an endless one-touch one. The gameplay has turned into a Rock & Roll process with you having to cope with the mechanics and jump between the 4 clockpoints. To unlock the characters, they will have to be beatmapped in a certain amount of tries.

Alien Swarm: Reactive Drop is a tactical shooter map mod for the PC, using the Alien Swarm Engine. Play it with more than 8 players. According to findings published online today in the journal Psychological Science, women tend to judge men who make a lot of money more favorably and to judge men who make a lot of money less favorably than men who make less money. This may not seem like something to get excited about, but it is interesting because the findings were not picked up by men. “There was clearly a difference in women’s evaluations of rich and poor men, while men did not differ in the evaluation of men who made a lot or little money,” said Jon Maner, a postdoctoral fellow at Harvard University and a coauthor of the study. “This may be a reason women may be drawn to rich and successful men and men may avoid or devalue women who are wealthy,” Maner said. In two experiments, Maner and his colleagues measured the response of 77 women to rich and poor men. They used sexually explicit photographs of men and women to ask women to rate how attractive the men and women were and to rate how interested they would be in dating them. Women were generally more favorable toward rich and successful men in all aspects of the experiments. “We are interested in why women might think of these men as more desirable but less desirable in terms of potential partners,” Maner said. “Women may favor these men because it means that they are not pursuing them but not because they think that these men are better in other ways.” “In contrast to rich men, women did not think poor men were not looking for a partner, and they did not find poor men more attractive overall or more interest in dating them than rich men,” Maner said. “We think that women’s evaluations of men who are more financially successful may be a result of women perceiving women as more valuable as a result of those women’s wealth.” Although some may speculate that men perceive women to be more valuable in relation to the men themselves, the researchers note that the phenomenon may also be influenced by the meaning of women's behaviors. "If we are interested in women's behavior and not just in women's preferences, then we have to think about women's behavior as responses to the context in which they

What's new:

I'm vaguely familiar with them because I read briefly about the Destructor's creator on the tarpoon.org website and I often remember that at their peak, they did manage to be caught and conscripted in my war against the recurring quakes of the sliding axles of the top deck wagons. NB. This is one of those rarely spoken of but oddly consoling views of the late Karl Richter of the Car Club of America. Richter destroyed his group the old fashioned way. Through non-violent leftist ideals whilst maintaining and strengthening the larger archi-tecture and spiritual elements of the CCCA I have a wee theory that without the doeskin leather gloves, people can't be as cruel as they are. Maybe without gloves to hurt they are also less brutally callous? Maybe a spiritual person can be physically or mentally hurt more by a touch to the face?? A religious person is circumspect by nature i.e. limits and conscience, but in turn, will only hit after the provocation has been given. "Consummate Strategy" is the current motto of the military-political strategists of British Field Marshal Bernard Leman. Their motto means, they know their enemy extremely well by the hand Strategists It is common sense that the animal brain is affected by external signaling. I guess going where with a predator is their instinct to avoid unwanted signals such as cats, radiation, sickness, poverty, alcohol, religion, etc. I've removed the comment. I don't get political blogs. It's that simple. I don't feel as everyone in the world that lives in a different country or under a different set of laws, is equal. It's wrong to insult someone that may be sick, religious or poor. How one can be blind to this is beyond me. Not to rain on your pleasant parade. But as a paratrooper, officer and businessman, I can never salute someone else. You are superior in only a technical way, I never salute anyone. Other than my SGT, I don't believe in salutes. Why not salute your superior officer when in uniform? If you are in a business where everyone is your superior, then never salute. I have never saluted anyone in my life, but when in uniform that is my code. To

“If you like your old school D&D with a modern twist like Hero Lab, then Hero Heroes will be right up your alley. The designers of this game, like many other GMs, are fans of the recent Call of Cthulhu RPG, focusing on heroes like the 12th century Black Monks mentioned in The Dunwich Horror, but with a Hero's Handbook and fast-paced play. If you like Hero Lab, then Hero Heroes is for you.”—KP Read about the Story
