My Friend Eugene Du Bois "The time of some of the worst race riots in America occurred in the Black Belt of Central Louisiana between 1693 and 1793. Many innocent people were killed, raped and property vandalized. The white people called them the 'Louisiana Rebellion' and 'Rebel War'. They usually occurred in the fall and winter months, and were committed by whites against the black people of the region." - Louis Rene Beres, From The Sons of Confederate VeteransQ: What are the risks of interaction with nuclear waste? In Chernobyl, somebody answered by not touching the reactor site. There is general agreement that we need to do nothing other than move people away from the site. However, this doesn't really address what risks there would be with working on the reactor. Reactor design has changed in many ways over the years and if we have something similar at some point in the future, obviously we won't know what kind of thing we should be keeping away from the site. A:

The prevailing attitude should be that nuclear reactors should be left alone for multiple reasons. (1)

There is a possibility that a meltdown/crater/whatever could happen. Nobody knows if a "crater" could cause a nuclear chain reaction. In any case, finding out could take decades, and we might never find out, the "crater" may be found to be OK in the end, or the meltdown may be self-limiting. (2) There is a possibility that the containment has leaked. Once it is found that this has happened, there is no reason to try and patch it up. Anything that lets out air, opens a leak path, or gives the containment an unnecessary load, is worse than nothing, and there are many designs to inspect for these things. (3) There is the possibility of a sabotage. It is even possible that a radiation release could do something. For example, it could be used to deliberately induce cancer in workers. Nuclear reactors are designed to operate for 50 years or so, and since they are not reversible, you can put them in a truck and Get a network to your home or office automatically.. In addition, it was able to connect to the Internet via the Previa2 wireless router after a patch was.

The Campaign to Restore North Carolina's Ecosystems is non-partisan, non-profit 501(c)(3) organization, supported by tens of thousands of volunteers. We are the largest grassroots, volunteer-led organization dedicated to protecting the unique ecosystems and habitats of North Carolina's Atlantic coast. Our mission is to promote the protection of the state's endangered and threatened ecosystems, as well as to promote the use of marine protected areas to create more jobs, economic development and to protect coastal ecosystems. There is no other organization in North Carolina that has the breadth of experience, expertise and momentum we have in our efforts to protect our most important public lands and natural resources. Through this campaign we are determined to protect North Carolina's extraordinary natural beauty and encourage new ways of thinking about ways to address the state's deepwater fisheries. We need your help to get our message out and we need your support to ensure that your voice is heard. If you are a North Carol
