What's new:

. The existing ASIA II House panel, consisting of [@MumbaiRice], [@MarineLad], [@ExpLad], [@OilLad], [@ChemLad] and [@AsiaCrisis] have publicly stated: The objectives of the proposed scheme is to undo the damage of an oil shock by providing an incentive for international crude oil purchases in a more stable climate, with the objective of lowering the vast volatility which could signal the end of the financial and trading system. Once the oil is housed within the tanker, it will be easy to dissolve in the oil market, keeping the massive dollar volatility in check. The SKIM is a “last resort” for the purchases of oil in the market. The emergency oil purchasers can simply pull out a few billion Dollars and purchase crude oil immediately. The liquidation of these contracts is much easier and more expedient, and offers immediate stability to the world oil market. This should ensure an ongoing price for oil—a guarantor of a healthy oil market. Stable oil prices will ensure institutional investors and foreign oil companies that the future of the oil market is valuable to them, and they will not need to liquidate their position, thus causing value loss and volatility. This is just the first step toward our goal of creation a new “wild west” of capitalism, where global arbitrage rules, and hedging and speculation is carved out. The specific objectives and plan of SKIM is as follows. 1. The establishment of an independent crude oil trading panel to hedge the price of oil. [@GoldmanRice] stated the selling of oil to the offshore sugar company through [@IndoChina] and Chinese sovereign wealth funds to hedge the oil price. It is easy to adopt Goldman’s logic for SKIM to purchase oil from sovereign funds, rather than to offshore merchant companies. Indias offshore oil is deemed a “major foreign policy national security concern”, but [@RiceBlog] claims that SKIM does not “meet any of these concerns.” It will be entirely up to the oil sovereign fund to provide crude to SKIM, and it will not be bound by the terminal price of the selected terminal. [@RiceBlog] also wrote that SKIM will be a “global firm, with holdings spread in the international oil market.” This quotation is an assertion
