For preschoolers, a variation of the Rainbow Sorting Game. to the time when a person is no longer considered a minor. In Louisiana, the United States Supreme Court has decided that under the Due Process Clause, a person who has reached the age of eighteen is no longer a minor. Addison v. Allbright, 797 F.2d 214 (5th Cir.1986) (applying Mississippi law). At least for the purpose of terminating parental rights based on failure to support, any entity seeking to terminate the rights of a person who has reached the age of eighteen is required to prove that person's ability to establish and maintain a parent-child relationship. Id. A person may contractually waive his or her right to support. Wooten v. Wooten, [¶ 23] 877 P.2d [192, ¶ 23] (Okla.App.1993). The provision of child support may be waived by an agreement between the parties and the effect of such an agreement may be litigated in a habeas corpus proceeding. Id. Federal courts have held that the right to child support is a vested right that may not be terminated without the consent of a parent. Canney v. Canney, 766 F.Supp. 811, 814 (D.Minn. 1991). The only way a non-custodial parent can obtain the payment of child support is through a civil action for money damages. Id. Only a parent, not the state, has the authority to decide whether to give support
