Like title says, I need to know what does it mean for a square to be a square? Thank you. A: A square is a shape whose area is equal to the product of its length and width. A square shape is a rectangle; a square figure can be regarded as a rectangular shaped figure whose width and length are equal. A rectangle is a shape made up of two parallel lines. If the length or width of the rectangle is smaller than the length or width of the original square, it is called a shrunken square. If the area of the figure is equal to the product of its length and width, it is said to be a square. The same figure can also be said to be a square shape. A rectangle is equal to the product of the length and width of the contents of the rectangle. A square is a rectangle, where the product is equal to 1.
